On April 2, 1968, on recommendation of the Superintendent, the School Board unanimously elected Mr. Jack McGinley, principal of Ramsey Street School, as principal of Reid Ross Senior High for the 1968-1969 school year.

On April 30, 1968, a contract was let for the grading of the school grounds and athletic fields at a cost of $8,760.

On August 6, 1968, Chairman Thompson of the City Board of Education appointed a committee to plan for the dedication of the new Reid Ross Senior High School. The members of that committee were as follows: School Board Members: Mr. Neill A. Currie, Jr., Mrs. John J. Lampros, and Mr. James D. Melvin, Jr., Staff Members: Dr. Maylon E. McDonald, Associate Superintendent and chairman of the committee, Mr. Jack McGinley, Principal, Reid Ross Senior High School, Mr. Zolly L. Bowden and Mr. Raymond E. Luper, Assistant Superintendents.

On September 10, 1968, the Dedication Committee reported to the School Board that the date of the dedication would be November 3, 1968, at 3:00 p.m., and that Congressman Alton Lennon would be the main speaker.

The school doors were opened for the 1968-1969 school term on August 26, 1968. The routine of the school day soon set in as was planned.

During November, the students helped with the dedication of Reid Ross Senior High School. As a reminder of the man whose name adorns our school, a portrait of Mr. C. Reid Ross was presented to the school.

As a result of all this action, we have a beautiful school of which to be proud. Now it is the duty of all those who pass through these doors to carry on the high standards of education Mr. Ross has so faithfully followed in his distinguished career as an educator.

A DREAM BECOMES A REALITY

The man who has led our school through its first year of growth has a great interest in education and young people. By doing his job diligently, he has proven himself a most capable man for the position of Principal of Reid Ross Senior High School. By giving generously of his time and wisdom, he has inspired admiration and respect from all.

We, the first Rohian staff, do sincerely dedicate our 1969 Rohian.

Mr. Jack McGinley

Mr. McGinley ponders over the stimulating conversation at the dedication.

Mr. McGinley glances up from refreshments just in time to look straight into the camera.

Foreword

The 1969 ROHLIAN is truly a story of the beginning. From the hurried excitement of the first day to the anticipation before summer vacation, this year has been filled with beginnings. The first sight of familiar faces, the first shiny clean page of a new textbook, the thrill of the first victory, the fear of the first major test - from these beginnings we mold our first school year. Every student who passes through Reid Ross finds a new beginning. Within these walls we acquire the knowledge we need to meet the future. Here we take the first steps to develop ourselves as adults and to establish the goals which guide and influence our lives. Here we lay the foundation on which we build. Reid Ross is our starting point, the origin of the goals and ideals by which we live. It is here that we find our purpose, and it is here that we begin.

As we present this 1969 ROHLAN to you, we are rapidly coming to the close of our first year. However, this end marks only the beginning of a new and better chapter in the life of Reid Ross Senior High School.

The hope of the ROHLIAN staff is that this yearbook will preserve in a vivid way the memories of our first year. May we find in it remembrances of the many good times we've shared - times of excitement and challenge, times of hard work, and times of companionship with friends.

Interested Citizens Compose School Board

MR. J. MEL THOMPSON
Chairman

The Board of Education is composed of outstanding citizens who have a great interest in the educational program in the Fayetteville city schools. These citizens are willing and able to take many managerial and financial responsibilities upon themselves. These citizens have given freely of their time and effort to make Reid Ross a reality. Through diligent work, the Board has set the high standards of education found not only at Reid Ross, but in all Fayetteville city schools. The students at Reid Ross owe the members of the Board of Education a special word of appreciation for the fine job they have done to make this beautiful school possible.

A Devoted Man

Mr. C. Reid Ross, Superintendent of Fayetteville city schools, is truly a devoted man. He is not only devoted to his job of education, but to the young people entailed in his job. Through experience and good judgement, Mr. Ross has shown himself to be a fine leader. The Fayetteville City School System owes much to this man for the smooth, effective way the schools are maintained.

Mr. Ross prepared for his career at the University of North Carolina where he earned his B.A. and M.A. degrees. After graduation, Mr. Ross served the Lenoir County schools in the capacity of both teacher and principal. From there Mr. Ross became Superintendent of Harnett County schools. Then in 1951, Mr. Ross became Superintendent of the Fayetteville city schools where he has since served faithfully and diligently.

Mr. Ross spends much time dictating letters to his secretary, Mrs. Breeden.

Mr. Ross poses in his office by his unusual time piece.

Assistant Superintendents

Dr. McDonald, Assistant Superintendent in charge of Instruction, is a graduate of Wake Forest College. He received his masters degree and Ph.D. from the University of North Carolina. Dr. McDonald devotes his time to the improvement of the overall instructional program in the city schools. His job includes the selection of persons for the instructional staff of the Fayetteville schools. In addition to his regular obligations, Dr. McDonald finds time to assist the principals and teachers in special areas of education including vocational and special education for the handicapped.

DR. MAYLON E. McDONALD

DR. BERT ISHEE

Dr. Bert Ishee, Assistant Superintendent in Charge of Special Education and Research did his undergraduate work at Mississippi College and received his masters degree and Ph.D. from the University of North Carolina. Dr. Ishee now spends his time working with the program for special education. The special education program of the Fayetteville city schools is one of the broadest in North Carolina.

MR. ZOLLY L. BOWDEN

Mr. Bowden, Assistant Superintendent in Charge of Business, is a graduate of Elon College and earned his masters degree from the University of North Carolina. Mr. Bowden directs the program for the building and maintenance of school plants and grounds. He also manages the purchasing of equipment for the schools and has overall direction of the cafeteria program.

Supplement Education

MR. A. IRVING MAYNARD

As Director of Audio Visual Aids, Mr. Maynard works closely with all the city schools to produce a better instructional program. He helps in the purchase, selection, and use of materials and equipment in this field.

MR. CARROLL R. POWELL

As Director of Libraries, Mr. Powell provides leadership in the development and improvement of library services, and coordinates the work of librarians. He also operates the central services for ordering, classifying, cataloging, and processing educational media.

MRS. WILLIAMS

As Supervisor in Charge of Title I Program, Mrs. Williams works with the elementary, junior high, and senior high principals and teachers. Her work includes directing a summer program for the educationally and culturally deprived youth.

MR. RAYMOND E. LUPER

As Director of Athletics and Physical Education, Mr. Luper has overall supervision of junior and senior high athletic programs. As Supervisor of Health and Physical Education, he works with principals and teachers to promote elementary to high schools.

Mr. McGinley Leads the Way

Mr. McGinley possesses all the qualities and virtues necessary to be a high school principal.

As the principal of a new school, Mr. McGinley has had many problems to face. He has had to work long and hard to get things running smoothly. Mr. McGinley has shown his great devotion to young people and to education by the program he has so diligently tried to establish at Reid Ross. Through careful consideration, he and the faculty have tried to establish rules and regulations which are both fair to the students and to the teachers.

Although Mr. McGinley has had all the work he could handle, he has always found time to listen to the students who have wanted his attention. Mr. McGinley has tried to work with the students and teachers to help Reid Ross develop the highest of standards. The students of Reid Ross will always be indebted to Mr. McGinley for the fine work he has done for our school.

In spite of his busy schedule, Mr. McGinley still finds time to pose for the photographer.

Office Staff Is Kept Busy

Mrs. Long is shown performing one of her many duties as secretary to Mr. McGinley.

English Is Essential

English is essential to everyday living. The purpose of English is to prepare the student for the world in which he lives. As a youth grows, his need to express himself grows. His need for expression is met by the study of English grammar as well as literature. Through English, he learns to think clearly, read intelligently, and communicate effectively.

Sophomores no longer grope in darkness. The basic grammar and writing skills light their path. The path grows and the light increases as juniors develop broader skills in speaking and writing.

Unaware sophomores begin to see the world through the eyes of others by studying such literary works as George Elliot's SILAS MARNER and Shakespeare's JULIUS CAESAR. Juniors broaden their understanding of democracy through the study of American literature.

At Reid-Ross, English II and English III are offered. For students who are interested in expressing themselves, a school newspaper is published.

Awareness Through Language

With the problems in our world today, it is important to be able to understand others. Through the study of a foreign language, the student becomes more fully aware of the ideas and cultures of other people. This awareness can help the individual to understand the problems of these countries. By understanding the problems, he becomes aware of the needs of others.

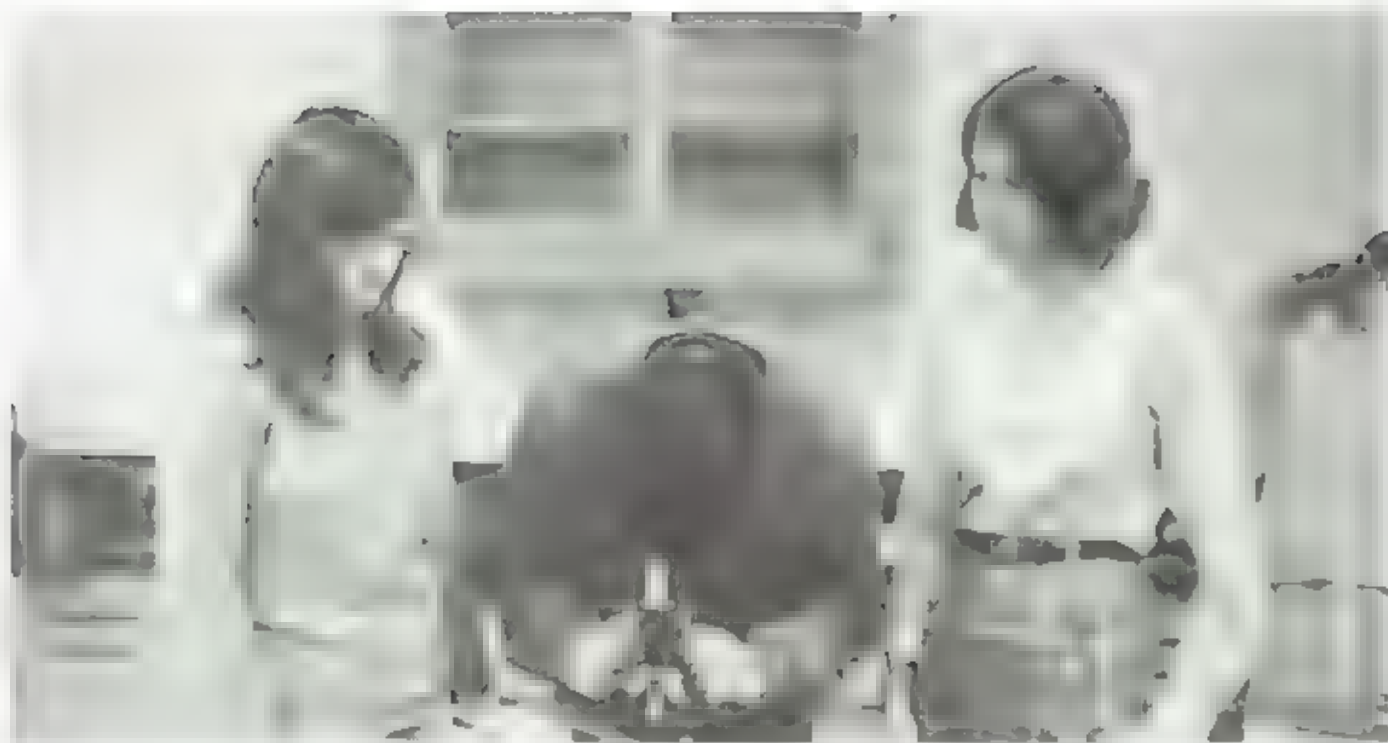

To bring about this awareness, French, Spanish, German, and Latin make up the curriculum at Reid Ross. Spoken expression is highly emphasized in French and Spanish. The study of German and Latin emphasizes reading and writing. French I, II, and III, Spanish I and II, German I, II and III, and Latin I are offered.

Science Is A Privilege

The students of Reid Ross Senior High School are very privileged to have one of the best equipped science programs in the city of Fayetteville, N.C. Not only do we have one of the best equipped science programs in Fayetteville, but we have one of the best selection of science teachers that can be provided. All and all, the science curriculum at Reid Ross is very well balanced.

Many hard hours of work have gone into the development of the science classes by both students and teachers. It is hoped that in the future more facilities and more students will greatly increase the potential power in our study of the world around us.

With the help of God and the interest of our student body the science department should continue to hurdle the barriers of success and develop fully as a capable organization.

Many of the interesting and cultural events of the world are very remote or completely unobserved in our studies of math and science. Nevertheless, one field relates to us the great event which led to the rising of the powerful and almighty civilizations of Egypt, Greece, Rome, China, Spain, Britain, and the greatest, most powerful protector of all time, the United States of America.

It has been said that the United States is a great "melting pot" in which many cultures blend to form one great society. Each person is an individual. Each person has his own culture and heritage, but they are all drawn together by the freedoms they share.

We owe it to our ancestors to investigate our own heritage. The students of Reid Ross Senior High School can obtain much of this knowledge through courses of Social Studies. Pride and gratitude can be built only if one seeks it. Only Social Studies can give us an opportunity to learn more about ourselves and our own people.

Fine Arts Hastens Culture

Students of different emotions, different ideas, and different talents attend Reid Ross High School. Band, Art, and Chorus all give individuals the opportunity to express themselves in the best way they know how.

These extra-curriculum activities give a person a chance to explore different types of culture at its best. Much can be taught by the students themselves who really make the organization shine.

In years to come, we expect the Fine Arts Department to grow in both number and capability. It is hoped that this department will not be left behind as the school itself progresses.

Math Is Challenging

In the midst of the academic work done at Reid Ross Senior High School there is none more challenging than Math. Taught by an excellent staff, it is of a very unique nature. It offers a challenge that very few other courses can offer. The courses taught include Algebra I, Algebra II, and Geometry.

The curriculum in the future will include a more versatile selection of math courses. As the ability of our student body progresses so will the realization of the importance of Mathematics. Mathematics has played an important role in the lives of many great men and in the eyes of many is the key to a civilization of which pain and labor are no hinderance.

The United States is a great commercial and industrial nation whose influence affects the lives of millions of people. Many capable young men and women are needed to operate and control our multi-million industries.

Various business courses are offered at Reid Ross Senior High to prepare young men and women for a career concerning business tactics and ideas. Although advanced courses are not, as yet, offered, in the years to come our Business Department will be fully equipped to train students for most fields of business.

The business courses now offered are Typing I and II, Business Math, Shorthand, Industrial Cooperative Training, and Business Information.

Home Economics is a course designed to train young girls in the skills of a good homemaker. Students are taught the proper etiquette for home as well as for formal occasions. Family relations and home management are two important aspects of home life dealing with Home Economics. For the basis of a good home, sewing and cooking are highly emphasized in the course.

This year, Home Economics is the only course of its type taught at Reid Ross. In the future, as the demand for courses on family relations grows, so will the department of Home Economics.

Guidance Opens Closed Doors

The Guidance Department has been a tremendous success this year. For the juniors, the Guidance Department has opened numerous doors. Through guidance, juniors have prepared for and taken S.A.T.'s and National Merit Scholarship Qualifying tests. Through the Guidance Department, sophomores have been able to take placement and achievement tests. The doors to new interests, new jobs, scholarships, and to new goals have been opened for many.

The students of Reid Ross have found the guidance counselor, Mr. McKeithan, to be a man interested in their personal needs and problems. Now and for the years to come, the Guidance Department gives the students a place to find help and relief.

Physical Education Develops Youth

The athletic program at Reid Ross Senior High School rates as one of the best in the city.

The facilities offered are some of the most modern. We have an excellent gym, spacious locker rooms, and superior equipment. Learning is not left behind in the classroom, but is also experienced in the Physical Education courses.

With the help of an experienced coaching staff, each individual develops his own physical strength to its greatest capacity. The coaches are the best that can be offered and have an attitude which is based entirely on good sportsmanship. Through our coaching staff, our students have been instilled with an ever present desire to win.

A.R.O.T.C. Builds Men

Of all the subjects taught at Reid Ross High, none is more independent and stern as the A.R.O.T.C. Many challenges have to be met by the cadets enrolled at Reid Ross. One that presents a challenge to a cadet and the organization is discipline. Discipline teaches a cadet respect for superiors and instills in him a sense of pride.

A.R.O.T.C. also prepares young men for their future in the aero-space program. It ensures our nation of fine leadership in the field pertaining to space and ground operations. It is the first step in preparing men for the defense of our nation and exploration of space.

MAJOR JIM A. PURDUE

Major Purdue attended the University of Illinois and the University of Omaha where he received a B.S. degree. He also attended East Carolina. On August 1, 1968, he retired from the United States Air Force. His medals include: Air Medal, Commendation Medal, World War II Victory Medal, German Occupation with Berlin Airlift Device, Medal for Humane Action, Vietnam Service Medal, Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal, National Defense Service Medal, American Campaign Medal, Air Force Longevity Service Award Ribbon, with four clusters, Republic of Vietnam Campaign Ribbon, Air Force Outstanding Unit Award, Good Conduct Medal, Combat Readiness Medal (Air Force), Armed Forces Reserve Medal.

Learning Center — A Source of Knowledge

The Learning Center, which has one of the finest architectural designs in North Carolina, is important to both the students and faculty of Reid Ross. The Learning Center provides a place for study, enjoyment, and relaxation through reading. Although the quantity of books found in our Learning Center is limited, the quality is unsurpassible.

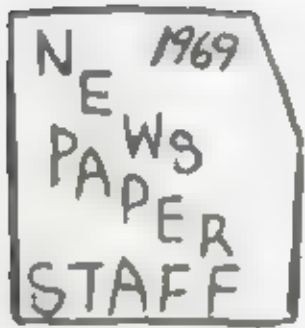

This year Mrs. Powell, Mrs. Winstead, and the assistants have worked hard to make our Learning Center the best possible for the students. For the aid of students, most books including reference books can be checked out overnight. In the future, our Learning Center will be more fully stocked with books for references and for enjoyment. For all interested students, paper back books are also sold in the Learning Center.

We at Reid Ross High School are privileged to offer Air Force Junior ROTC, a course in aerospace. The first year deals with aerospace pioneer and their equipment. It is taught by Air Force officers and Non-commissioned officers. For our ROTC program, they are Major Jim Perdue and TSgt. Byron W. Mainey.

During a three year period, the students learn military customs, traditions, courtesies, and leadership. For persons completing the course who go directly into the Air Force, they may enlist as an Airman.

Paw Prints

The newspaper of Reid Ross is made up solely of material written by students. For the first year, the newspaper will be typed up and run off on stencils.

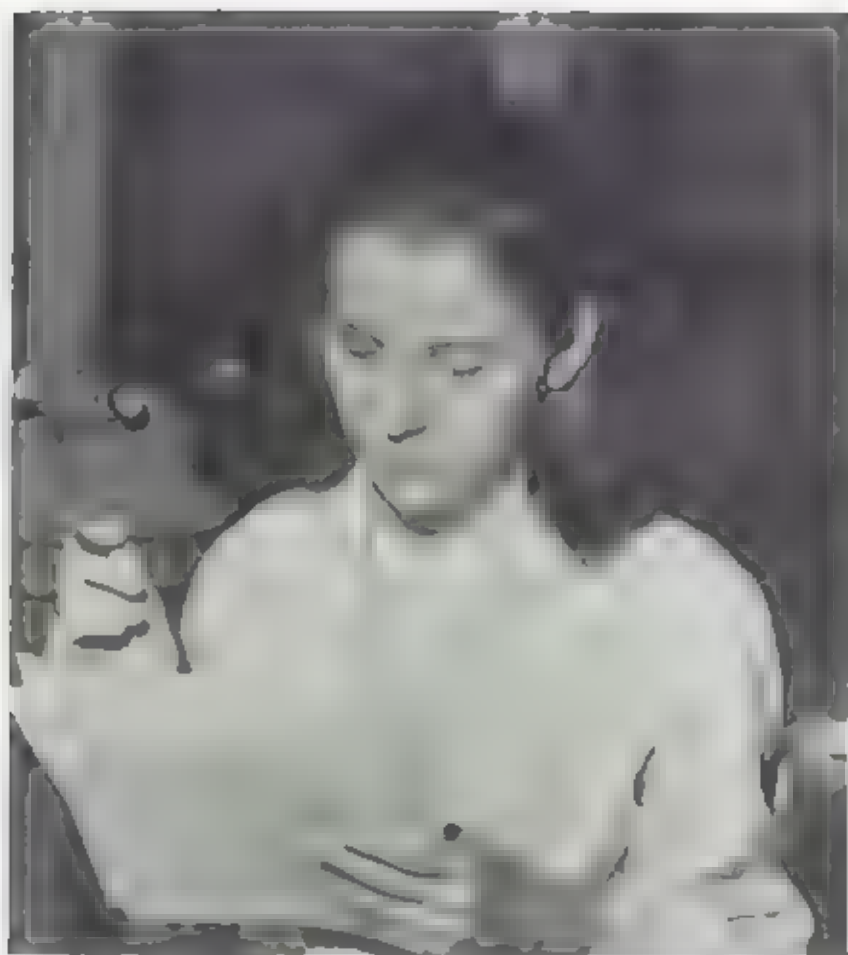

Under the supervision of the newspaper sponsor, Mrs. Harriet Ussery, the staff has worked hard at turning out a good paper.

The purpose of the newspaper is to let the students know what is going on around school. Each month the newspaper staff will select two students, a sophomore and a junior, to be students of the month.

The money that is collected this year will go to the Newspaper staff next year to run off on regular paper.

Editor Rittenbury ponders long and hard over the trying problems of the newspaper staff.

Cougars bust the Terry Sanford Bulldogs as Mike Scurry scurries for 6 points. Cougars won 48-0.

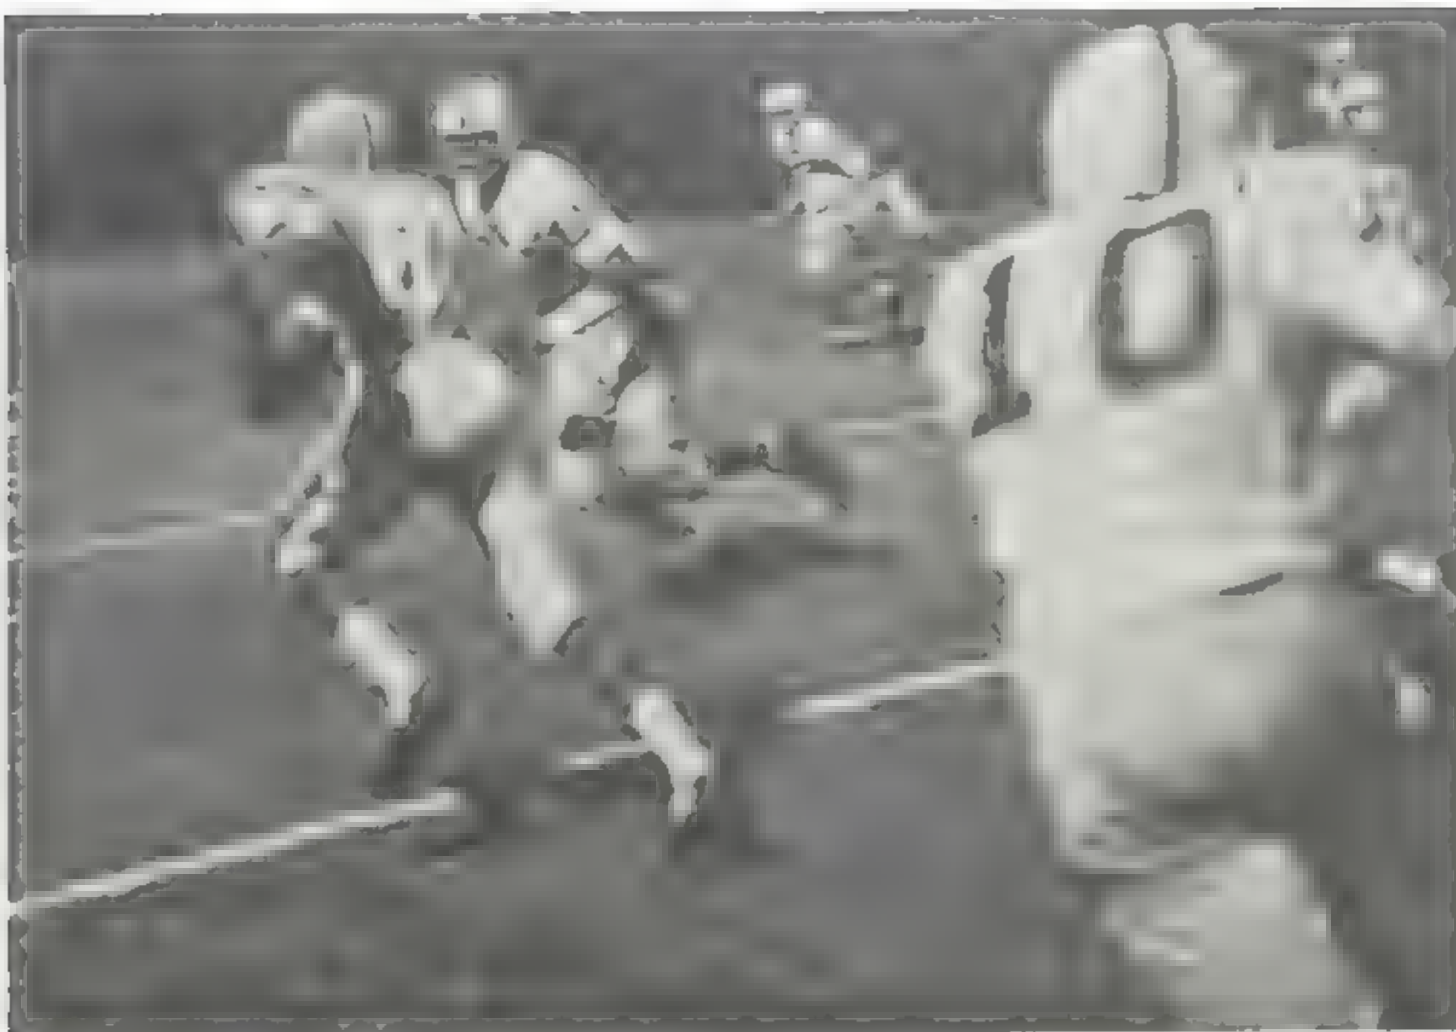

Alex Averette in for the

As Kiley Harris, Walter Harr, Jerry Wilson, Jon Aczis, James Thompson, Jay Benson, David Carr, and Joe "The Flea" Evans take a well-earned rest, the second string gets some experience on the field.

Ronnie Michaux, 82, raced for the goal line and added 6 points to the scoreboard as Reid Ross trounced Raleigh Sanderson 39-13 in their second meeting. Michaux narrowly escaped the oncoming defender.

"FOOTBALL"

Football is a game of determination and strategy as well.
 Everyone must play his part, if he wishes not to fail.
 Victory is a precious thing for the team with a bit of pride.
 The Cougars are the ones with a gift of that which cannot be denied.
 We lost two games surely felt grief, but never lost faith.
 We always turned our backs on it and planned to retaliate.
 Unity is a precious thing which our team possesses.
 Togetherness can make anything prosper rather than retrogress.
 This is the Cougars first year in action; but they played with old heart.
 We had a lot of pep behind us, and every student played a part.
 We love Reid Ross 'greatfully', and we'll fight for it until we leave,
 And all the students now to come - our spirit, - we hope they'll receive.
 Yes, we are the Cougars, the mighty, mighty Cougars, that's our precious name,
 So let us live up to it, fight for it, and let victory be our fame.

by Lee Shipman
 for the Reid Ross Football Team

The Bullpups try for a first down, but the defense of Cougars collapsed around the ball carrier.

the sword in our hand.

Time is our salve and Fortune's.
We need not years for fruition.
Here in our hands behold a key which unlocks the world.
